MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Canons Repealed by the General Convention.

The rejection of the proposed marriage and divorce canons by the General Convention of the Episcopal Church is a matter of great interest to the lay public. It is significant that this action was taken by the church, in driving "people from the communion," as excluded them from marriage by an operation for a whole generation.

The practice of the church in allowing never gteemed probable. The half-prevails, though in 1877 it was put tantism has held stoutly to the the- that?'
