TRAXLER CAN HARDLY BE PUT OUT BY NICHOLS

Said Burks. I'll tell you about it.

AID ASKED OF WILSON — The Tribune

More than a year ago, standing in the presence of a hideous massacre knowing that Americans—men, women and children, had been ruthlessly slaughtered by a German act, Woodrow Wilson told the world that the American people were too proud to fight.

In a moment of a great national election Mr. Wilson went before the United States and asked them to confirm that decision.

Mr. Wilson has his answer. The country and the world have the answer of the American people. On the day of election the American people have not forgotten the Lusitania. "Too proud to fight" has proved an epitaph and not a slogan.

Mr. Wilson believed the American people were cowardly, selfish, careless only of their safety and uninterested as to their honor.

The lesson of this election is less pointed for Mr. Hughes than for Mr. Wilson. Yesterday the American people passed judgment not upon him but upon Mr. Wilson. In their judgment there is a meaning that only a blind man could fail to perceive. Mr. Wilson's defeat is only the first step in national rehabilitation; the road is long and difficult, but no man who volunteers to lead and, volunteering, falls will be forgiven.

It is not unnatural in the general dangers which menace our country in this present disturbed state of the world, that these serious and persistent and vital errors of the Democratic Administration in matters affecting the honor and dignity and welfare of the United States abroad should have been considered more important by the electorate than the notably good achievements of the Democratic Administration in domestic affairs.

The Currency Reform Act, the Labor Law, the Eight-Hour Law, the Rural Credit Law, good as they are, were not enough to overcome the evil to which the Administration's attitude in foreign policies were responsible.

The Republican legend is still vital. Like the Napoleonic legend, it Mr. Wilson's death and disaster; its power, though diminished, dominates the country. The Time has often and that the country believe better off under a Republican President, under a Democratic Administration. Now and then it uses the Democratic Party as a whip to scourge the Republicans into good behavior; duly-chastened, they are returned to power.

The business interests, the money interests of the country, gave wholehearted support to Mr. Hughes in the campaign now ended. That tremendous factor of strength was too powerful for the Democrats to overcome.

A return to the policy of high protective duties, and that was (he life and soul of the Republican campaign in Its last two years, will not insure prosperity; almost certainly it would shackle the export trade which we must build up in volume and in value if we would assure to ourselves a reasonable measure of prosperity during the period of depression that must follow the end of the European war.

History will do full justice to Mr. Wilson's Administration. It will write the truth about his management of our foreign relations that it, and its effects, has been keenly considered by the American people and by the world.

Mr. Wilson's defeat was due entirely to his insistence upon committing errors in his foreign policies and in his attitude toward Mexican affairs.

Mr. Wilson's domestic policies were almost all good, policies.

Mr. Wilson's foreign policies were...

I thought I was quite young when I was 20. That was a time when I could have a good time, and I did. Now I am 40, and I can't have a good time the way I used to. It's too bad.

I have been a firefighter for 20 years. I have seen many things happen. I have seen fires, I have seen accidents, I have seen people die. It's a tough job, but it's a job I love.

I have always been a Democrat. I have voted for every Democrat for President, and I will continue to do so.

I have always been a good husband. I love my wife, and she loves me. We have been together for 20 years, and I hope we will be together for many more.

I have always been a good father. I have three children, and I have always tried to do the best for them. They have always been good to me.

I have always been a good friend. I have always tried to be there for my friends when they needed me. I hope they will always be there for me when I need them.

I have always been a good citizen. I have always tried to do my part to make this country a better place.

I have always been a good man. I have always tried to do the right thing. I hope I will always be a good man.
