CHERRY TREE FAUD.

An investigation by the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture of this country has shown that the cherry trees planted near the home of Mr. J. L. Wills, of this county, are being destroyed by a pest that is now prevalent in this part of the country.

Mr. Wills has several acres of cherry trees, and the pest has caused him a great deal of trouble. He has been trying to control the damage for several years, but without much success.

The pest is a small insect, about the size of a pinhead, that feeds on the new growth of leaves and flowers. It has been found that the cherry trees are most susceptible to the attack of this insect during the spring and early summer months.

The cherry trees were first noticed to be affected about a week ago, and since then the pest has spread rapidly throughout the area.

Mr. Wills has consulted several insect experts, and they have advised him to destroy as many of the trees as possible, and to spray them with a special insecticide.

The pest is known to be particularly destructive to cherry trees, and if left unchecked it could cause significant damage to the crop. Mr. Wills has decided to act quickly to prevent further loss.

The cherry trees are a valuable asset to Mr. Wills, and he is determined to do whatever is necessary to protect them. He has already taken steps to destroy some of the trees, and plans to continue spraying with the insecticide in the coming weeks.

The State and Federal Departments of Agriculture are also monitoring the situation, and will provide assistance if needed. They have advised Mr. Wills to consult with local experts to develop an effective control strategy.

Mr. Wills is grateful for the support he has received, and believes that with proper action the cherry trees can be saved.

McKee's West.

THURSDAY MORNING, after the last but annual sale of stock at the young man's store, Mr. M. C. West, has made a trip to the mountains, where he was informed by a clergyman that the church would not be used for the next few months.

Mr. West has been a faithful patron of the church, and has always contributed generously to its support. He is disappointed by the news, but understands the reasons behind it.

The church is currently undergoing renovation, and it is expected that it will be closed for several months. Mr. West has expressed his hope that the church will reopen as soon as possible.

The clergyman assured Mr. West that the church would be well taken care of during this time, and that any necessary maintenance would be carried out.

Mr. West has also been informed that a new organ will be installed in the church, and is looking forward to the opportunity to hear it.

Mr. West is a devout man, and has always been active in his church. He is looking forward to the time when he can return to worship and participate in the activities of the church.

PRIMITIVE METHODS.

The publication of an account of the work of the crop pest commission should do much to advance the welfare of the poorer classes. It seems to me that the work of the commission should be more widely publicized.

I have been interested in the work of the commission, and have been impressed by the thoroughness and dedication of the members.

It is my opinion that the commission's work could be even more effective if it were more widely known. I believe that the public should be made aware of the commission's findings and recommendations.

The commission has made several valuable contributions to the understanding of crop pests and their control. They have been instrumental in developing new methods and strategies for combating these pests.

I believe that the commission's work should be given more recognition, and that their findings should be disseminated more widely. I hope that the publication of their work will help to bring about a greater understanding of the importance of crop pest control.

Mr. Wills, Mr. West, and Mr. Cherry have been kind enough to provide me with the information and resources necessary for this work. I am grateful for their support and assistance.
