Rumbling With the Featureists--

The Student Post Note "R"-"B" and "B" are the two original leaders of a group of strange roots over our campus with the ability to quip at all times and to be aware of what goes on in any part of our institution. In fact, we have the sense of the American Baccara, Hamma, and the growth of an ever-increasing number of students. The growth of the "R--B" has reached a genial level of discussion, and the growth of the "B--R" has reached a genial level of discussion.

When I arrived in the English department, I was greeted by two new arrivals. They were both smiling and very kind. One of them was always very quiet, while the other was always very talkative. "What's up?" I said. "Just another quiet day in the office," was his reply.

The growth of the "R--B" has reached a genial level of discussion, and the growth of the "B--R" has reached a genial level of discussion. The growth of the "R--B" has reached a genial level of discussion, and the growth of the "B--R" has reached a genial level of discussion.
