With mingled emotions, the editor has come to a final point in the history of the Johnsonian. If you have faithfully read it from beginning to end, you will find the end in no way less satisfactory than any other part in the magazine.

The Johnsonian has been with you during a period when the world has been passing through a series of changes. It has been a period of school life, of college life, of national life, and of world life.

And while we are wondering how the Johnsonian will be, how it will be built up, how it will be preserved, how it will be saved, we should not forget that we are all part of the Johnsonian.

We are all part of the Johnsonian. We are all part of the Johnsonian, the magazine that has been with us through all the changes of the world.

As the Johnsonian has been with us, so it will remain. It will continue to be our guide and our companion, as it has been in the past.

And while we are wondering how the Johnsonian will be, how it will be built up, how it will be preserved, how it will be saved, we should not forget that we are all part of the Johnsonian.
