THE ODDS GIVE WAY FOR THE NEW

The recent elections have again demonstrated that the old idea of "giving way for the new" is not the student management of the campus. The new student body is made up of girls who have expertly managed the ship, Winthrop, through high school and college years. They have managed the student body with a broad channel of high principles and worthwhile objectives through the years. As they cast a "book glances" over their completed tasks, they may, perhaps, feel a bit gloomy that they have done some things differently. But we know that success is marked by ability to carry on the work we have begun in spite of all the odds against it, and that their work has been well done.

Winthrop University is the alma mater of Lena Mile* Waver, Sarah Wilder, Betty Jackson, and Sallie Harrison.

Dr. Kotschvin TALKS TO I.R.C.

Opportunities Open in American Missionary Fields and Mission Work in World Fellowship.

EUROPE LOOKS TO AMERICA.

"I think I've studied and visited enough in America to know what I'm talking about, and the rest of the world as someone who has seen the world and was bom in the world." This statement before the International Club Thursday afternoon, he selected the subject of "The American Missionary Field" and gave it in the Rose Bowl of Johnson Hall.

As a representative of the International Student Sunday in American Missions, the representative from the American Missionary Field in Europe gave an account of the field in which he worked and the results of his labors. At this meeting, the representative from the American Missionary Field in Europe took the opportunity to express his appreciation of the work done by the International Student Sunday in America and to express the wish that the work might continue and be extended to other fields.

Another cause of this feeling is that of the American students who are returning to their homes and thinking of the future of the country. This makes the natives feel as if they are about to be left out in the cold and that their work is not appreciated.

THE CAROLINA-WINHOPPE

On Wednesday morning, Winthrop College will have its first International Student Sunday in association with other institutions within the State. Last year, a group of student organizations in the area decided to hold the ceremonies, which was begun by a number of the groups. The students were given the opportunity to hold a meeting with a discussion of some of the work of the International Student Sunday and of the various organizations in the field.

The prices are within easy reach of all. These feature garments are beautifully tailored and are suitable for sport and social occasions. They are on display in great variety of colors and styles.

BOOKS ARE DONATED FOR MEDICAL LIBRARY.

Book Week opened Monday with a donation of $1,500.00 from John R. King, of the Board of Trustees of the Winthrop College. This was the first donation of its kind given to the College. The books were presented to the College's library to be used for the benefit of the medical students.

These book donations are due to the efforts of the International Student Sunday and the International Student Sunday Club, which was formed to promote the work of the organization and to help in the publishing of the magazine. These organizations have been working for the betterment of the medical students and are very much appreciated by the students.
