Meetings Tonight

There will be a meeting of all members of the Winthrop Women's T.B.I. tonight at 8:30 in Johnson hall auditorium, according to Thelma Hollis, president.

A Red Cross knitting project for the war effort was discussed at the meeting, as well as the organization of a sophomore committee for general campus service.

Senate Puts Measures To Faculty

Senior Privileges, Light Cuts Will Be Considered

Motions concerning special privileges for seniors and light cuts for juniors, and sophomores were discussed and passed by the Senate at a two-hour meeting yesterday in Johnson hall auditorium and now pending the final approval of the Faculty Committee on Student affairs before final action by President Shelton Tappes.

A uniform regulation concerning dress for all students was also passed by the senate and put before the faculty. This regulation, which has been approved by the faculty, includes the following:

1. Students who are not colorblind are expected to attend this conference on the morning of the conference. The Carolina-Furman football clash on Saturday morning.

Representatives from the schools will be Betty Richardson, Sylvia Newsome, Betty Martin, Clara Stover, and Nancy Cogbill, Maudie Lanam, and Carl Webb.

Albert Spalding Here For Concert November 27

Albert Spalding, America's greatest violinist, will give a concert here in the new auditorium, Friday evening, November 27, as the third number of \textit{The Others} artist concert series.

Mr. Spalding will play in the form of "The Others", and also in several concerts including the New York Philharmonic Symphony, the Philadelphia Symphony, and the Boston Symphony, as well as in Carnegie Hall on which he made his debut.

Although he is still a comparatively young man, Mr. Spalding has established himself as a great violinist and his original works to his credit in addition to many famous compositions, both of which he has been a leader in his field. He is an excellent champion of American music and has been a leader of it.

Albert Spalding is one of the few American artists who has made a name for himself in Europe and is considered by many the greatest violinist of his time. His violin, the "Winning Others To Christ" violin, is in the home of the Savannah Press Association.

Books—Stationery—Printers
The Stars and Stripes go on parade—and well they should—for this Winthrop Flag Week as proudly the miniature emblems of a free people flaunt themselves in every classroom and in conception spots, self-important, in the glee of the program.

Pictorially, Winthrop students and staff members will lead a discussion on the question of what constitutes a regular monthly meeting of Pi Gamma Mu. The regular meeting of Pi Gamma Mu will be held in Johnson hall Thursday, February 25.

Work was begun last week in the regular meeting of BSA, sponsored by Dr. Theodore Cook, head of the English department. At present, the committee is at work on the topic and will discuss it with the club.

For the United and the Flag Bearer and the assuming peace that is here, we may well continue to boost the pride of a people that yet flashes its colors in an air free from the boom of guns, the shrift of airships, and the death cries of war.

This year we've become poster-minded. Every time we venture forth along the corridors we've got to stop and observe the admirals and the army of colorfully proclaimed campus events to come. Recently, those eye-catchers have been particularly colorful—in words and in paint—which we chalk up to the determination of such clubs as win that pep contest. But even with pop publicity better than poster-heat, goes to the powder-puff posters with pep publicity better than poster-heat, goes to the powder-puff.

Dr. Stokes is attending the annual meeting of the South Carolina and Georgia Home Economics association in Columbia last week.

Campus Roadways
Now Under Construction
Construction has now begun on a network of paved and gravel surfaced treated highways on and around the campus by the State Highway department. A road, which will run between the library and the gymnasium, is being cut from Elder's to the parking lot of the power house. The street behind the courthouse has been turned over to the state department and will be treated and widened. The sections before the courthouse on Main street and on University avenue, the street behind the courthouse, will be graded and surfaced as soon as possible, and the road around the outbuildings.

The work is under the direction of highway engineer, E. C. K. Gart.<n

Landrum Attends Meeting In Chicago
Miss LeRoy I. Landrum, extension state home demonstration specialist at Winthrop, was recently appointed by the president of the South Carolina Home Economics association to attend the annual meeting of the American Home Economics association in Columbus, spent last week-end in North Carolina, and is now attending the annual meeting of the North Carolina College association. She participated in the discussion sections of both meetings.

One Winthrop class proved its naivete and probably its ignorance for the following reason in a recent test:

Phelps and Martin Speak To Alumnae of Central District

Using the time-tested education objectives set forth by Plato as a basis of education objectives carried out at Win-throp, President Shelton Phelps told alumnae members of the Eastern District that the aims of Winthrop are to give a general education for the first two years of college, to supply the specialized field, and to train people to live harmoniously together.

Perhaps you never felt that way about a book. I’m beginning to sound too much like a book salesman.

The Promise of America
But maybe we could be getting too emotionally involved, too other-than-fiction.

The kind of ideas we need in America and about America is something we’re just beginning to get used to. We’re beginning to go down a path leading to the ultimate ideal of ideal democracy, where every man has not only the right to live, but the right to be heard.

And I think that someone has to set the standard right now. I think that that someone is the American people.

And I think that something like that is the answer to some of the problems.

The old ideal—old-fasioned—of a better world is not the whole answer.

But there is no reason why the people can’t go on figuring that out.

Again, the idea of giving. And nothings about reading and books—"it is lovely to feel a book, a good book, firm in the hand, for its own sake.

But making those books.”

The Recreation Roundup
Sports and Fun on the Campus

By CATHERINE BALDE

CARRYING blitzkites, singing pep songs, cheering for each team.

Thursday night was Saturday night
To the Erskins - P. C. game.

And loads of fun it was too. Our sincerest thanks to Erskins and P. C. for coming here to play. We loved the whole thing from flinging up with the band at Maclay and following them not too far, to the return in the chilly night air, hoarse and happy about it all—and thinking how good a cup of coffee would be—or a hot dog, perhaps.

The game was well conceived, favoring P. C., but the Erskins laid up a hard fight. Both colleges brought along cheer leaders and bands and lots of students. Some of those Erskins that were the midst of Winthrop hams were in the height of their glory—or looked at least.

At the half, P. C.'s drill platoon took the spotlight. The whole thing went well. And the Erks, in between, looked as if they'd been through the gestation campaign already. That, we suppose, means a smear on Mr. Mayhew.

Target Practice:

Clemson, we notice, has acquired an interest in archery and is comprising a team to participate in matches with neighboring colleges in this quarter. We have heard our bow and arrow girls, especially since they're planning an archery target practice下周.

Says Miss Cousey, "We’re hoping to get together for some mutual target practice. The girls are all for it."

Up and Down:

On the gridiron last week were: best of all South Carolina's defeat of Kansas State. The gamecocks spread their wings and showed that they can really do it. Al Gray again displayed his amazing technique with the pigskin. Congrats to the Cock's on their victory, and may there be many more.

And worst news to us was of the Tigers' fall before a strong Auburn eleven. But the Clemson fighting spirit is still there and we're looking forward to a victory for them in their clash with Furman on Thanksgiving.

We marveled at Davidson's scratchy Wildcats and their resistance to Duke's Blue Devils. If they had stopped at that half it wouldn't have been Davidson's game by virtue of their strong Auburn eleven. But the Clemson fighting spirit is still there and we're looking forward to a victory for them in their clash with Furman on Thanksgiving.

"Take a Little Peak"

In the gym tomorrow night at the square dance you'll have to wear a barn outfit, get yourself a partner (another Winthrop girl) and come in for "Take a Little Peek." Those white gloves and belts were unusually catchy. There's no shortage of新型 of a loyal Confederate.

If you're interested in sports you will want to note that the nearest public gymnasium is located in Winnetka, Illinois.

Robinson Chosen
Junior Cheerleader

Catherine Robinson was elected Junior Cheerleader. She will lead the Erks in their cheers along with Jewel Carmichael, Elizabeth Collins, Mary Claire Pinckney, and Sara Carmichael. Catherine, from Lancaster, will be in charge of the cheer section. The girls were nominated for the jobs by Elizabeth Collins and Mary Holland.

Frost Debbie Aid To Britain Query

After a model debate presented Wednesday by members of the debate team, the judges were asked to state their opinions on the query, "Resolved: That the United States should adopt immediately aid to Great Britain."

The question was divided into sections, each of which was considered separately. The debate was well-conducted, and the conclusion was reached that the United States should definitely give aid to Great Britain. The dispute was decided in favor of the affirmative side, with the negative side receiving the least number of votes.

In Memoriam:
To Mary Sanders, last year's president of the Athletic Association, whose death occurred suddenly on October 2nd, we have the highest respect. Her memory will remain as a shining example to all of us in the lounge of the gym. It is the full length picture which was used in the senior statistics of the Tatler last year.

London Times Carries On

From across the water comes the story of the London Times surviving its usual small print, still publishing, and still managing to make a point. The London Times, despite the scarcity of death around London such a week, had barely seen its first-glimpse at the Times that these brave souls were actually handling their tiny headlines in giant-size letters through their printer's ink. But over in the upper right-hand corner of the Sunday page, a few words let the reader know that this was no joke. Said 'The Times': "The men of the "Air Raid Damage" in Lon- don."

Those few words tell a tale, but the front of the city is resuming its usual sense of puzzlement as to just how things will work out. The usual mistakes are made, but the line is intact. Both topics are still being shopped around, and the Times still overflows the front page and into the back pages with its stories. The few words tell a tale, but the front of the city is resuming its usual sense of puzzlement as to just how things will work out. The usual mistakes are made, but the line is intact. Both topics are still being shopped around, and the Times still overflows the front page and into the back pages with its stories.

We may not have as many chess games as of yore, but we have the London Times to show for it. London Times continues to go to press, and the people still like to read it. The Times, on its way to the printing press, is restored to its usual small print, two columns, with a column of headlines and a column of stories.

"The youth of America is air-born," says Miss Julia Poet, and following them out to the field, to the return in the chilly night air, we're hoping to get together for some mutual target practice.
