Winthrop girls agree on educational motives in assembly. They like the change and they like the movies themselves, but they expect a play just for less bloodshed and more unity between scenes of future films. According to a Johnston survey they'd like to see more movies of the way people live in other countries, the history, the customs of all parts of the world. A study of student health habits under the direction of Miss Pinch, the health instructor, reveals an interesting picture of the health and hygiene of the students. The study shows that the students are generally conscious of their health and well-being. However, there is a need for improvement in some areas. For example, there is a higher percentage of students who report feeling tired or exhausted, which may indicate a need for better rest and nutrition. The study also highlights the importance of regular physical activity and proper nutrition in maintaining good health. The findings suggest that health education programs should be strengthened to address these issues.

Sorority Sisters Play Football For Britain

By Mario More

In the fastest and most bitterly contested game of the season, the Sorority Sisters defeated their rivals from the University of Oxford in a thrilling 3-1 victory.

The game, played in front of a packed crowd at the campus stadium, was the culmination of the Sisters' long campaign to raise funds for the British war effort. The team, led by Captain Mary Smith, put on a brave and defiant performance, despite being outmatched by their opponents in terms of experience and skill.

In the first half, the Sisters took the lead with a powerful goal from Sarah Brown, who headed home a cross from the left wing. However, Oxford fought back strongly, and the game remained level until the second half.

Emily Davies, a skilled midfielder, scored a penalty goal to extend the lead, and the game looked all but over. But the Sisters refused to give up and fought back with a goal from Sarah Lee, who headed home a cross from the right wing.

The final whistle was blown to the delight of the home crowd, as the Sisters celebrated their historic victory. It was a day of triumph and pride for the Sisters, who had worked tirelessly to raise funds for the war effort.

U.S. Hockey Team's Local 84s Top Norwich

It was a close, hard-fought game, and the final score was 3-1 in favor of the U.S. Hockey Team's Local 84s. The game was characterized by a high level of intensity and skill, and both teams put on a spirited performance.

The Local 84s took the lead in the first period, scoring on a powerful shot from the point. However, the Norwich team fought back hard in the second period, and after a flurry of action, the score was tied at 1.

In the third period, the Local 84s scored a crucial goal, and the game remained tied until the final whistle. The victory was a testament to the skill and determination of the Local 84s, who have been a dominant force in the sport for many years.
